Déar Sir:

I am asking you a great favor. It would be a pleasure to hear from you regarding this matter. Would it be convenient for you to send me the following information?

With the view of compiling an International Dictionary of Musicians and the looking up of the research work find your name omitted in the musical dictionaries now in print. With the aid of the musicians I am trying to reach by letter, this very large and responsible undertaking would be greatly simplified if you could send me a short biographical sketch of your life: When and where born, where you studied and with whom, main events with accurate dates of their happenings, if a concert artist, pianist, violinist, orchestral conductor, organist, instrumentalist, musical writer, teacher, composer (please mention compositions, if any), if a lecturer, critic, etc. Wife's name if married and musical (life), if any relatives musical, and where a resident. Would appreciate any small magazine picture you have of yourself if handy, and any other important information.

This book is written only for musical information with absolutely no financial obligation to you, whatsoever.

I would be pleased to list your name in this newwork, if you so desire. With best wishes, I am

Very sincerely, Aimee Ray

p.s. All languages are acceptable, but English preferred. I am sorry not to be able to enclose postage for this request, but it is different in America. Thank you.
